
When Bee Foundation Business Buddies

Show your support for bees and pollinators through a business partnership with the When Bee Foundation.

Becoming a When Bee Foundation Business Buddy

1. What is a Business Buddy?

A Business Buddy is a person or business that contributes funds to When Bee Foundation linked to a share of their business or product sales. This might be calculated by the unit or as a percentage of profit or sales or an agreed fixed amount.

A Business Buddy commits to making regular, fixed monthly or quarterly contributions. The monthly contribution amount is nominated by the business to ensure the commitment is affordable and appropriate.

2. Does the Business Buddy program suit all businesses?

There are four categories for the Business Buddies program ranging in commitment levels – Grevillea, Banksia, Wattle and Mountain Ash. This provides businesses big and small with a point of entry to suit their requirements.

The Grevillea is the entry level category for small businesses or start-ups, with the Banksia and Wattle categories providing increased benefits and engagement with the Foundation.

The Mountain Ash Business Buddy is a bespoke category for businesses who wish to partner with a particular event or program run by the When Bee Foundation.

Details on the commitment levels and benefits are on Page 3.

3. Who can be a Business Buddy?

Anyone with an ABN can apply to become a Business Buddy. Interested businesses must enter into an official Business Buddies Agreement that clearly sets out the terms of the relationship between When Bee Foundation and the business.

4. Can I make financial contributions without becoming an official Business Buddy?

Yes. A contract is not required where a business wants to make a donation. However, this does not allow a business to make any claims linking the sale of a service or product with When Bee Foundation. Where businesses want to promote that they support When Bee Foundation through product sales, a Business Buddy Agreement is required.

5. How can consumers be assured that When Bee Foundation receives the financial contributions that are being promoted by the Business Buddy?

All current Business Buddies are listed on the When Bee Foundation's website. The Foundation regularly validates its Business Buddy program to ensure all businesses are meeting their nominated commitments.

This system provides consumers with an assurance that each Business Buddy listed on the When Bee Foundation website is a genuine Business Buddy.

Should a Business Buddy stop meeting its agreed financial and reporting commitments, the business's name is removed from the Business Buddy listing in accordance with the terms of the Agreement.

Becoming a Mountain Ash Business Buddy

The Mountain Ash Business Buddy is a flexible, bespoke sponsorship model that can be tailored to meet a sponsor's individual needs. Payments can be made as a one-off upfront payment or may be paid over an agreed period of time.

The Mountain Ash Business Buddy has two sponsorship categories:

1. Foundation Business Buddy

The When Bee Foundation manages numerous projects and works to deliver value and impact through funding research, raising awareness and connecting people. Sponsorship of the Foundation allows funds to be directed at the Foundation's discretion across all programs and projects or towards vital research as needed. This allows the Foundation the greatest degree of flexibility and ability to move swiftly when issues emerge. A good example is the 2019/20 Bushfires. Having funds untied to a specific project allowed the Foundation to be nimble and respond quickly to the bushfire crisis through the establishment of the 5Bees program and expansion of the Powerful Pollinators Program.

2. Project or Event Business Buddy

A business may prefer to be associated with a specific project or event that aligns with their brand. These can include the following projects:
